

Please join us for

“Residents Anonymous”

A new informal discussion group

First Dinner Meeting: Wednesday January 24th from 6:15-7:15pm
Schaffer Auditorium in the Bloomberg Children’s Center
(behind the former security guard desk as you enter by the parking garage bridge)

Being a resident is tough. Many of us have been through struggles in our training, and sometimes talking with others who understand can help. We are launching “Residents Anonymous” to give you a place to eat good food, talk, and learn from other residents who are also tackling similar challenges. Come join our group and help each other.

Our group will meet twice a month and is a drop-in, confidential space.

We are excited that Dr. John Lipsey, a member of the School of Medicine faculty since 1982 who was a program director for 11 years in the Department of Psychiatry, will serve as the group’s facilitator.

Dinner from Zannino’s will be served.

Meeting dates:

Wednesday, January 24th from 6-7pm

Thursday, February 15th from 6-7pm

Feel free to drop in anytime during the session.

Sponsored by the Resident and Fellow Wellness Initiative of the Graduate Medical Education Office at Johns Hopkins University. Wellness matters.
